

Self Righteous a world's problem

Self righteous, for some, this is very new topic. In fact, for spiritual personnel that are very trained and integrated, this term would not seem new. So what is it about self righteous that is so special? As we all know we are approaching the Aquarian age, and its really about consciousness building that we are talking about. Dear readers as we are talking about this topic, it is good that we step back a bit and be in a contemplative mode. This is also to help you to see this topic as a third party.

Self righteousness means pushing others because you believe it is correct. It also covers area like wanting others to take your suggestions that you believe is correct. Now the key words here are want and pushing. Self righteousness is actually like a higher trait of the negative ego and many have already fallen to it. This problem is actually permeating around the spiritual community. It is highly noticeable especially for people are not conscious about their character integration process. Now the irony comes in because this problem occurs more towards people who are serving and have plenty of information about Spirituality.

Most of the time people who have been receiving information or light works may know certain truth about things and events. However what is the offset of this information download is that you might be sensitive about what other might say. Then your ego starts telling you: "No, this is not the truth. I must share what I know." Does this happen to you? Of course there are people who have mastered this trait. So this may not imply to all. However, as an observation, this is what most people might be facing.

The truth is that we are all here to do our own work, change our consciousness and also expand that consciousness to people. The key is expand, which suggest that is passive. Most of the time people take an active role which is alright if you are fully integrated. However we must remind ourselves (which includes me) that we all have ego within us. It will never leave us. All we can do is to be aware of it and deal with it. So when one shares the information that he/she knows, he/she should be very careful of the problem of self righteousness. It is because it happens just so naturally that sometime you might not even be aware of it. Silent and purely ego.

Remember no one can judge another person except for himself/herself. So what rights do you have to judge the truth in the person? We are all spiritual beings in truth, so listening and be discerning is your responsibility for your highest good. However the boundary stops there. This is very important. Sometime people get carried away and spirited away. Just know that you can forgive yourself anytime and move on again in a relaxed and firm manner.

This is the information on self-righteousness that I would like to share. Hope everyone have an enjoyable week ahead!
