

Service in the Astral World

In the course of ascension, one has to embrace all levels of Gods creation. This involves various levels like the mineral kingdom, the plant kingdom and even the astral kingdom. However the word here is Embrace. In the process of embracing, it would normally mean acknowledging and respecting the kingdom for its divine purpose. The tricky part here is whether we really need to work with the Astral World consciously or sub-consciously? For the answer to this question, we have to consider the learning of the person. Does the person fear the Astral World? Is spirits something which is haunting you? These are the questions that one might to consider.

If most of the answers for the question are yes, then you might have to work with the Astral World until the fear is gone. The objective of the whole event is to train you so that you will not contain unnecessary fear for the Astral World. All things happen for a reason. This is how the lesson will manifest for this case. Another scenario is that one may be assigned to service with the Astral World. In any case, this assignment will depend on the spiritual contract of what the person's higher self have decided for him/her. However, in most cases such contract is not permanent. Once the mission is served, then one is really free from all these problems.

So what happens when you are constantly pulled into the astral realm for service? Are you able to reject such offers? Yes of course, God made this world a place where people have their ability to choose. In any case, every single individual can own their personal power and just reject the offer. There is really no need to be following this order. Even if you have a contract, you may choose to serve it after you ascend. This process will take place, however it is only a matter of the sequence of event. It is now or later. There is no forcing or pushing.

This also implies that if you are constantly disturbed by the Astral entities, the best advice is to set up a Golden Dome from Archangel Michael or a silver circle of Lord Sanat Kumaran, this will help lessen unwanted guess from coming to you. This protection also has to be strengthened by your personal will to learn the embracing of the astral world by grace of God and not by Experience. Remember the idea is to acknowledge and not serve directly. In any instances, the astral world is a lower vibration and the body would be taxed in the process of serving.

However, this does not mean we cannot help the Astral world. We can still send loving and healing energy to the beings of the Astral world with proper protection. When one has true consciousness to help the lower astral world, love and protection will protect you and also help the beings. This in fact also helps you learn to embrace the Astral world. There is thousands of ways to serve the Astral world, but being dragged to help out is not the way. Thus I hope this information would be helpful to form a clearer perspective on the Service of the Astral World. Remember it is embracing not indulging, so do not constantly visit the place for no reason.

Peace with you
